

connector

Your job is to find connections between the book and the world outside the book.

This might mean connecting the reading to:

- your own life
- happenings at school or at home
- similar events at other times or places
- stories in the news
- other people
- other problems
- other books or stories
- other writings on the same topic
- other books by the same author.

Use these connections to think about what is happening in the text.
