Major Earthquake And Tsunami Hits Japan

WHAT IS HAPPENING?

On March 11th 2011 a major 8.9 magnitude earthquake hit Japan followed by a huge tsunami that destroyed most of northern Japan. The Red Cross has helped a lot for this issue but you can still help by donating money to them ($10 minimum). The problem is that many people help a lot during the 1st month, and then, forget about it even though people are still in trouble.

HOW DOES THIS PROBLEM AFFECT PEOPLE?

This problem affects all the parts of the compass. It affects nature because all of the nature in Sendai has been destroyed. It affects economy because lots of people have probably lost their jobs and have no money or house. It affects society because people might find it hard to communicate and work together to solve their big problem. Finally, it affects well being because people have probably been cut off from clean water, so they have to drink water that is unhygienic and lots of people die.
